IEEE

AN EVENING OF INSIGHTS WITH BEN KUO

ENTREPRENEURSHIP SPEAKER SERIES

Startups for Engineers
Tips about Starting Your Own Company
as an Engineer

California Lutheran University
Swenson Building, Room 101, 141 Faculty Road, Thousand Oaks, CA
Wed May 18, 2016
6:30 pm Pizza, 7:00 pm talk
Registration required at this site http://insightswithbenkuo.eventbrite.com
$5 for members, $15 nonmembers, $35 at the door

Have you ever wondered about what it takes to start and fund your own company, especially as an engineer? Benjamin Kuo, founder of online technology news site socalTECH.com--who regularly interviews startup and technology industry CEOs here in Southern California--gives some hints and tips about the startup process, from the perspective of an engineer. Ben Kuo is a longtime IEEE Senior Member who got his start in engineering, but now spends his days tracking local high tech startups and venture capital from the business end of the industry.