How do we preserve our own voice and freedom of decision when big data “reads us” and gives unsolicited advice? Does artificial Intelligence manipulate our power of decision? Furthermore, recent research showed that algorithms may have kept some human biases that were involuntarily embedded at time of programming? This Summer event will be Q&A between the audience and a panel of guest experts in artificial intelligence, sensing, imaging, internet search engines and algorithms. Together, we will explore how to live in a smart environment while staying alert of the boundaries between our privacy and our connectivity.
